Another aspect of the Cold War was the "Space Race".

Both The Soviet Union and The United States had a lot of technology and wanted to be the technology leader of the world.
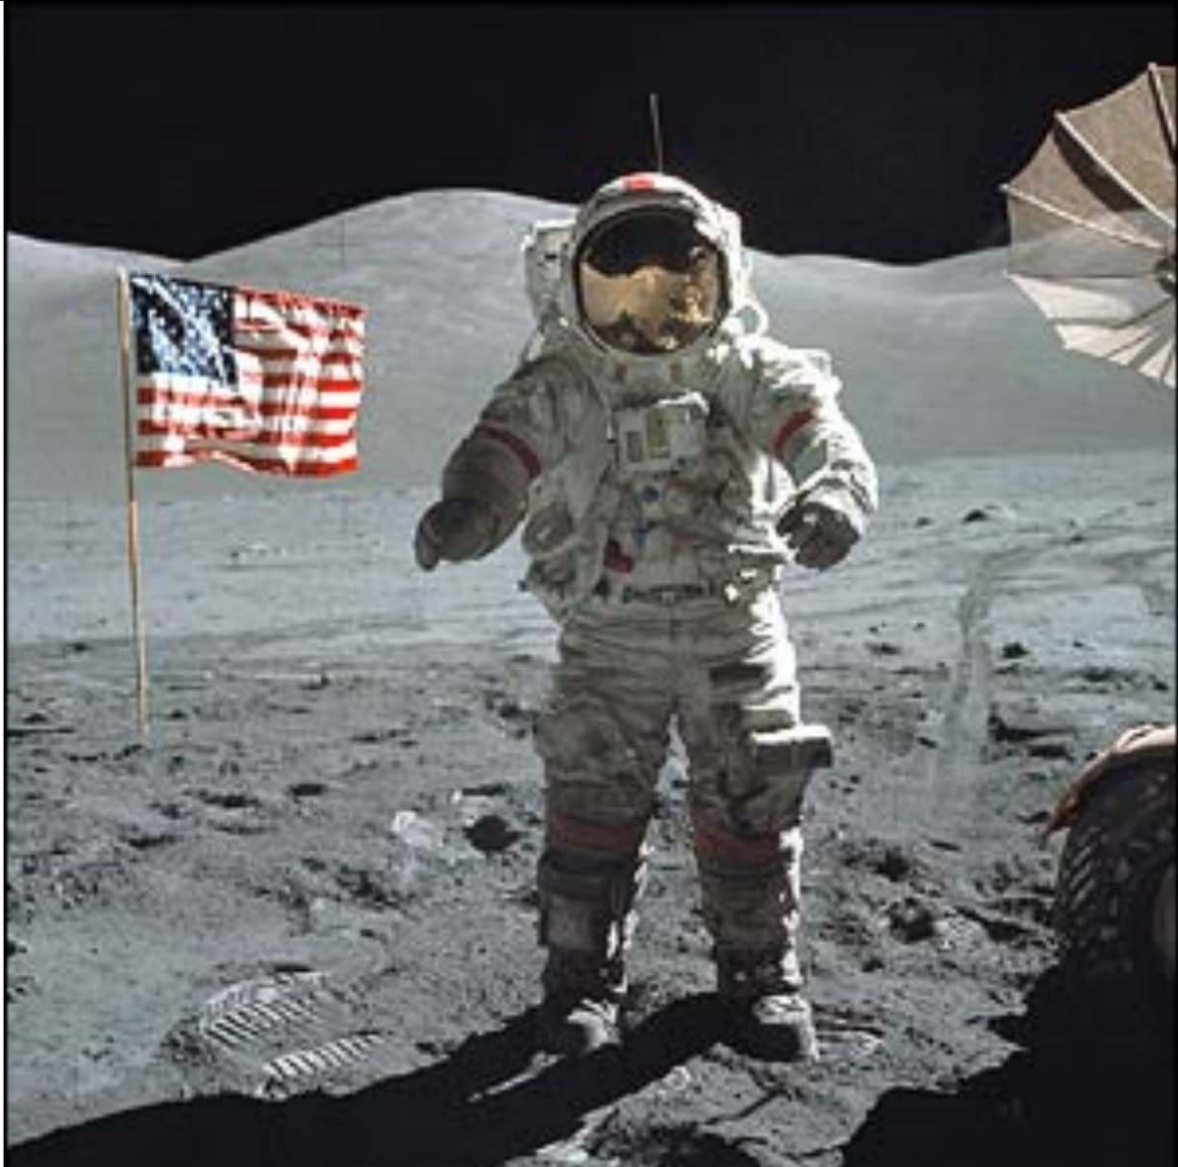

The countries became involved in a "race" to see who could make it to outer space first.

Pg. 264 - (Our World Today)

Which country made it to space first? What did they do?

Which country was the first to land on the moon?

The End of the Cold War...

Soviet Union leader Mikhail Gorbachev introduces a new program for Soviet Union as a country - Glasnost.

Glasnost means openness

Moved country towards capitalism

In 1991 - Soviet Union collapsed and country again became Russia.

Since the fall of communism and the Soviet Union, there is no longer a political division between Eastern and Western Europe.

Many countries in Europe are part of the European Union.

European Union - Agreement among nations to cooperate together economically.
