

Multi-cultural Restaurant

You are going to create a restaurant that covers all of the regions in America including physical geography, culture, ethnicity, etc. The floor of your restaurant is shaped like the United States.

On an 8 ½ X 11 piece of paper, draw an outline of the United States – (this is the floor of your restaurant). Write the name of your restaurant big across the top of the paper.

Next, divide your restaurant into at least FIVE (5) different sections. You have some choice as to how you divide your restaurant.

You may want to divide it by physical geography, (the different regions we discussed in class – pg. 502 - 506), ethnicity, (where different cultural groups settled –pg. 519), or resources (jobs such as farming vs. industry or fishing - pg. 507 - 508). You may and should use a combination of each. (All pages are from Our World Today Textbook).

On the back of the paper, write at least three sentences for each section of your restaurant that describes the environment of that section of the restaurant. (Things you may want to discuss – music, food, drink, language spoken, etc.).

Multi-cultural Restaurant

You are going to create a restaurant that covers all of the regions in America including physical geography, culture, ethnicity, etc. The floor of your restaurant is shaped like the United States.

On an 8 ½ X 11 piece of paper, draw an outline of the United States – (this is the floor of your restaurant). Write the name of your restaurant big across the top of the paper.

Next, divide your restaurant into at least FIVE (5) different sections. You have some choice as to how you divide your restaurant.

You may want to divide it by physical geography, (the different regions we discussed in class – pg. 502 - 506), ethnicity, (where different cultural groups settled –pg. 519), or resources (jobs such as farming vs. industry or fishing - pg. 507 - 508). You may and should use a combination of each. (All pages are from Our World Today Textbook).

On the back of the paper, write at least three sentences for each section of your restaurant that describes the environment of that section of the restaurant. (Things you may want to discuss – music, food, drink, language spoken, etc.).